Read the passage and choose the correct answer to each of the questions.

Eco-tourism is a form of responsible travel that focuses on conserving the environment and supporting local communities. Unlike mass tourism, eco-tourism encourages visitors to explore nature in a way that minimizes damage to the environment. Activities such as wildlife watching, hiking, and staying in eco-lodges allow travelers to experience nature while reducing their ecological footprint.

One of the most important goals of eco-tourism is to promote sustainable travel. Many eco-friendly destinations use renewable energy sources, reduce plastic waste, and educate tourists about conservation. This approach is more effective than simply relying on laws to protect the environment, as it encourages tourists to make long-term changes in their travel habits.

In addition to helping the environment, eco-tourism benefits local communities. It provides jobs in rural areas, supports small businesses, and helps preserve local cultures. However, eco-tourism must be carefully managed to prevent over-tourism, which can harm fragile ecosystems.

By choosing eco-friendly travel options, tourists can contribute to environmental conservation while enjoying unique and meaningful experiences. Sustainable tourism ensures that future generations will also have the opportunity to explore and appreciate the natural world.
